

The mistake-counting model that we use is essentially the same as a model discussed in Barzdin and Freivald (1972). See Angluin and Smith (1983) for a survey that compares a number of learning models.